Financial market review

Equities performed well in the second half of 2012. As a result, all leading indices posted strong end of year gains. In December, performance was tempered by nervousness over America's impending fiscal cliff, but global equities surged on the first day of trading in 2013 following the US politicians' 11th hour deal. Over the six months to December 31 the MSCI, the benchmark index for the Fund rose by 4.52 per cent (4.6% on a total return basis) while the Fund increased by 10.11 per cent (12.1% on a total return basis) after fees on a simple price appreciation basis, an out performance of 5.59 per cent. This performance is stated after deducting the annual management fee and any performance fee for the period as detailed on page 7. (Source: Bloomberg).

In the annual report published last August, we stated that we saw considerable upside in some of Europe's least loved stocks, which is why we had added to the position in BNP Paribas. This strategy has been rewarded as BNP Paribas was the Fund's second highest contributor over the six months to December 31.

Indeed many of the Fund's European financial holdings produced significant contributions over the period, rising substantially as sentiment towards both the region and the sector improved. Strong performers include: ING Groep, Royal Bank of Scotland, Allianz, Aegon, HSBC and Unicredit. We feel this trend has further to go and recently bought more shares in Royal Bank of Scotland following a constructive meeting with the Finance Director.

Similarly, our German property theme has now performed well, with Gagfah producing a good return and TAG Immobilien making the highest contribution over the last six months. We also see further upside in this theme and during the period took up rights in TAG Immobilien.

Other top performers include Schibsted, the Norwegian media company, which once again reported positive results, driven by the strong growth of its online classified business in France; and Sky Deutschland, which has a new entry level offer and a distribution deal with Germany's largest cable company.

Our United States housing theme investments – Wolseley, St Joe and HeidelbergCement - performed well, in response to increased confidence in the recovery of the US housing market. Stanley Black & Decker, a new holding which fits in this theme, has also made good progress.

During the period we started to build up a new theme centred on e-commerce. Our approach is to benefit from increasing online purchasing through investment in service providers and less well known e-commerce companies rather than invest in expensive household names such as Amazon. On this basis a new investment was made in Kinnevik, a telecom holding company which also owns a number of e-commerce companies including a leading fashion 'etailer' in non-Anglo Saxon markets; we added to Deutsche Post which is heavily involved in e-commerce through DHL; and towards the end of the year made a new investment in UPS. This has traditionally been a premium rated company but is available now at an attractive price. Schibsted, a leader in online classified advertising and a long standing holding is also included in this theme.

We have also added to the Fund's 'changing diet' related investments. We believe that a growing and increasingly prosperous population in the developing world will want more food and particularly meat and dairy products, which require greater productivity from farm land and therefore more agricultural inputs. Further shares have therefore been purchased in Mosaic, which produces phosphate and potash fertilizers and Potash Corporation of Saskatchewan.

During the period we increased the holding in Niko Resources' ordinary shares and added a new position in the 7 per cent convertible bond issue. While the operating performance of Niko has been disappointing, we feel that there is substantial underlying value which should be revealed now that the financing situation has been resolved.

AUTHORISED CORPORATE DIRECTOR'S SHORT REPORT
FOR THE SIX MONTHS ENDED 31 DECEMBER 2012

Other poor performers over the period were Archer, a Norwegian oil services company which has suffered from a worsening situation in the US, where the rig count has fallen; France Telecom, which fell after reducing its dividend and earnings outlook for 2013; and EDF, which was affected by the increased cost of bringing its nuclear power fleet up to new post-Fukushima safety standards.

Some changes were made to the Fund's telecom holdings as we see the US mobile phone market becoming significantly more competitive. Softbank, one of Japan's largest mobile phone companies has invested $20bn in Sprint, the third largest carrier in the US. Previously, Sprint had been financially stretched, burdened with large debts and an expensive network transition; following this investment it will be in a position to compete aggressively to gain market share. We therefore sold Deutsche Telekom - US margins and revenues-per-customer are among the highest in the world and T-Mobile USA will be affected by increased competition; we also reduced the holding in Vodafone - while the discount to its holding in Verizon in the US remains substantial, the risks to earnings have increased.

Other sales completed during the period include Husky Energy which was sold following a review of the Fund's energy holdings and Lennar, the US housing related company, which had performed very strongly. We finished selling the non-voting shares in Roche and the remaining shares in Land Securities were sold. Intel was sold after a price rise and also because of some concerns over the forthcoming launch of Windows 8. We began to sell SNC-Lavalin – as a contracting company the global slowdown, particularly in the resources sector, is likely to be unhelpful. In August, GlaxoSmithKline's takeover of Human Genome was completed for which the Fund received payment.

In addition, some profits were taken from Yum! Brands, Experian and Svenska Handelsbanken and most recently, the Fund tendered shares in ANF Immobilier, the French property company, into a buyback offer from the company and sold Clearwire, a US wireless company with extensive spectrum assets, following a good recovery.

Looking ahead, there is no doubt that questions remain, particularly over the future of the euro and the path of global growth. However, we feel that equities are still attractive in both absolute terms and compared to competing asset classes. We have been running the portfolio at as close to fully invested as is practicable for some time and we believe that our list of shares is well placed to participate in a continuing re-rating of equities.

The risk indicator for this Company reflects the following:

The share class is in risk category 6 as its price has experienced significant rises and falls historically.

Risk profile

The following are important warnings:

Investors should appreciate that there are risks normally associated with investment in stocks and shares.

- Stock market prices may be volatile and be unpredictably affected by many diverse factors, including political and economic events but also rumours and sentiment. An investment in the Fund should be regarded as a long-term investment. There can be no assurance that the objectives of the Fund will be achieved.
- The capital value and the income from shares in the Fund can fluctuate and the price of shares and the income from them can go down as well as up and are not guaranteed. On encashment, particularly in the short term, investors may receive less than the original amount invested. Any initial charge made by the ACD is deducted from an investment at the outset and consequently an equivalent rise in the value of the shares is required before the original investment can be recovered.
- Defensive investment in cash and money market instruments, at times when relevant stockmarket indices are rising, may constrain the growth of capital invested in the Fund.
- Investments may be made in assets denominated in currencies other than Sterling and the movement in exchange rates may have a separate effect, unfavourable as well as favourable, on the gains and losses otherwise experienced on such investments.
- Investments may be made in securities with floating or fixed rate interest rates, where changes in the prevailing rates or changes in expectation of future rates may result in a change in the value of the securities and the income received therefrom.
- Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future growth or rates of return.
- Exemptions, thresholds and rates of tax may change in future tax years.
