December Commentary

Your Fund returned -0.2% during the month compared to -1.9% for the IA Global (TR) sector.

The Fund made good progress in the fourth quarter, returning +5.7%, slightly behind global markets, which rose +6.9%. We wrote at some length about the year's performance in the Strategy's latest Newsletter (see here). In summary, we take confidence from the breadth of the gains achieved, the underlying operational strength of the Fund's companies, and their valuation when compared to the wider market.

We are often asked for our outlook for global equities, and invitations to share our views naturally increase with the start of a new year. We have many opinions about what may or may not happen in the near term, but we are careful to ensure bottom-up analysis is the driving force behind the Fund's investments. The Strategy's companies are selected for their resilience to withstand a wide variety of expected and unexpected setbacks. They are also constructed and managed in such a way that allow them to adapt and grow though different economic conditions. The long-term ownership of such companies makes them (and us) less sensitive to any near-term shocks or surprises. Nevertheless, we are always alert to valuations, and we recognise that valuations and investor sentiment, most notably in the U.S., are running at elevated levels. Our resulting caution is expressed in recent transactions. We have, for instance, substantially reduced investments in American Express and Moody's over the past six months, both of which combine cyclically high earnings with historically high valuations. Conversely, we see several of the Fund's more stable growers – mostly staples and healthcare companies – trading at historically low valuations. This discrepancy provides an opportunity to rebalance the Fund, further reinforcing our confidence in its prospects.

Thank you for your ongoing interest in the Fund. We wish our readers a happy and prosperous 2025.
